

Chiefofstaff.com signs FWD Insurance for its cloud-based, cross-enterprise strategy execution and collaboration platform

New York, NY, February 2021 ---- Chiefofstaff.com, the most advanced cloud strategy execution and collaboration platform, announced today that FWD Insurance has joined its growing list of multinational enterprise clients using the technology to coordinate and lead their global organization in today's work-from-anywhere environment.

Chiefofstaff.com's technology will be employed by FWD Insurance's executive management team across eight businesses in eight countries.

“With Chiefofstaff.com’s easy-to-use, cloud-based technology, any company can quickly shift priorities as circumstances change, ensure efficient and fast decision making and execute any new plans with complete access and monitoring at all levels. Right now, we have a situation where the largest companies in the world and the people that run them find themselves in an ever-changing business environment” said Robert Epner, Founder & CEO of Chiefofstaff.com. “We’re delighted that we can be there for all our clients and partners and welcome the opportunity to work with a company of FWD Insurance’s stature and reputation.”

Chiefofstaff.com is unique in the marketplace because of its cloud-based, integrated flexibility that can quickly analyze diverse enterprise needs across different departments and businesses, engage resources efficiently and execute and monitor activities at any level 24x7. The technology is already in place with a number of global clients and the company is in discussions with others where it can be quickly mobilized as conditions, needs and strategies shift.
